A MERCHANT at Springfield has a 5 cent [illegible].

THE clip of wool in McLean county this year amounted to about 80,000 lbs.

J. G. STARR & SON have just finished an elegant double set of harness for Mr. James Haworth.

CAMPBELL & SHROCK'S grand excursion to Peoria will come off next Sunday. Only $1 for the round trip. Don't fail to go.

LADIES will find a full line of superb toilet goods at W. C. Armstrong's drug store.

THE young ladies of St. John's Episcopal church cleared about $125 on their art exhibition, in postoffice block.

MEXICAN dollars are selling for 95 cents in San Francisco. They are taken by Chinamen returning to the Celestial land.

A PORTABLE photograph gallery is being constructed on East Eldorado street, near Pam & Hostetler's drug store.

June 19-d&w1f

THE prospects for a very large yield of winter wheat in this section of the state were never better. Many fields will produce 25 and 30 bushels to the acre.

A CRYING baby is a bore to the whole neighborhood, and the parents should be forced to keep Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup handy. Price 25 cents a bottle.

ABEL & LOCKE invite all citizens and the public generally to call at their establishment and inspect their fine display of carpet goods which they offer for sale on very reasonable terms.

THE popular painters, M. A. Myer & Sons, have been awarded the contract for frescoing, gilding and repainting the interior of St. Patrick's Catholic church, and will commence work next week.

No disorderly conduct whatever will be permitted on Campbell & Shrock's cheap excursion train to Peoria on next Sunday. Everybody will have a seat, and everything will be as lovely and peaceful as a May morning.

W. C. ARMSTRONG'S is one of the best known drug stores in the city, where prescriptions are carefully prepared by the most experienced compounder in central Illinois.

THE following will serve as a hint to Decatur landladies who feel that the times are still tight: "The calculations—made by a New York boarding house woman—is that fifteen per cent saving is the result of serving the meal up very hot."

THE roof is on the burnt part of Robert Greene & Co.'s coffin factory. The interior repairs will soon be completed, when everything will move along as prosperously as before the fire.

IT WILL be noticed from a card which appears elsewhere in to-day's paper, that Dr. E. W. Weems has opened an office over W. C. Armstrong's drug store. The office has been newly painted and fitted up nicely with new carpet, matting and furniture. The doctor is a graduate of Rush Medical College at Chicago, and has a prosperous future before him as a physician and surgeon. Success to him.

THE Glorious Fourth will be celebrated at North Fork Church, four miles east of Decatur, by an old-fashioned celebration. Addresses will be delivered by Hon. W. E. Nelson, J. M. Clokey, E. R. Eldridge and others. There will be a picnic dinner. Come and bring your baskets filled with good things. Everybody will be welcome.

SO flattering are the prospects of the Indianapolis, Decatur and Springfield road that the second mortgage bonds have, within ten days, gone up to 21 points, and they are now selling at 37 cents. This company has $900,000 in cash above the amount needed to build the road, which they will expend in buildings, equipments, etc. The indebtedness under the first and second series of bonds is but $12,000 per mile.

ARTHUR J. GALLAGHER.

Sudden Death of this Eminent Lawyer and Jurist.

Brief Sketch of his Life.

Meeting of the Macon County Bar—Time and Place of Funeral.

From Tuesday's Daily.

Our community was shocked last evening by a report that Judge Gallagher had died suddenly at his office, about 5 o'clock. The news spread rapidly, and was soon known in all parts of the city. It seems that since Mrs. Gallagher's departure for California in April, the judge has been sleeping in his back office, having fitted up an apartment for that purpose. He had been somewhat indisposed for about three days, and had remained most of the time in his office, under the care of a faithful colored man, Charley Bell, who had long been in his employ. The physician, Dr. Moore, had come to see him only a few minutes before his death, and gave him some medicine, soon after which, in a sort of paroxysm, caused by his inability to eject something from his stomach, he seemed to strangle or choke to death. The alarm was given at once, and in a very short time the office was visited by many of the more intimate of the deceased man's friends.

Arthur J. Gallagher was born in Straban, county Tyrone, north of Ireland, about the year 1827. But little is known of his early history, as he never talked much of himself, even to his most intimate friends; but it is sufficient for the purposes of this sketch to say that he emigrated to America with his relatives when quite young, stopping for a while at Philadelphia, came west alone and entered the Catholic college at St. Louis. Here he remained until the spring of 1846, when, the war with Mexico having broken out, he caught the army fever and enlisted as a private in the Second Regiment Illinois Volunteers, commanded by Col. (afterwards Governor) Bissell. He served out his term of enlistment, one year, having participated in the great battle of Buena Vista, and returned to Belleville, St. Clair county, in the spring of 1847. Here he entered the law office of Hon. Lyman Trumbull as a student, and after a careful course of reading under his eminent preceptor he was admitted to the bar in 1849—just thirty years ago. Belleville not offering a very inviting field for a young lawyer, Mr. Gallagher removed to Vandalia, where he opened an office, and at once began to make friends, as he did of all whom he met. At Vandalia he made the acquaintance of Dr. J. T. B. Stapp, Colonel Ferris Forman, the late James W. Berry, and others, who saw in the youthful attorney the promise of something out of the ordinary line, and they became his warm, fast friends for life. In 1852 he was chosen to represent his county in the legislature, and was afterwards appointed by President Pierce Register of the U. S. Land Office at Vandalia—a position which he continued to fill until his removal to Decatur in 1856. He was not long in building up a practice, and soon took his position at the very head of the Macon county bar. He formed a partnership with Richard J. Oglesby and Sheridan Wait, and the firm enjoyed a very large and lucrative practice. In 1862 the deceased raised a company, of which he was made captain, and was assigned to the 7th Illinois Cavalry, commanded, we believe, by William Pitt Kellogg, now Senator from Louisiana. He remained in the service about a year, and resigned on account of ill health.

In 1865 he was united in marriage to Miss Rachael Smith, eldest daughter of Hon. E. O. Smith. One son, Arthur, now some ten years of age, is the only child born of this marriage. In 1867 he was urged to be a candidate for judge of the old 18th circuit, by the unanimous voice of the bar, and was elected without opposition, serving until 1873, when he again resumed the practice of his profession.

Judge Gallagher was in many respects a very remarkable man. He had as clear perceptive faculties as any man we ever knew. He seemed to grasp every question of law almost intuitively, and whatever he knew was so clear to his own mind that he had no difficulty in making it clear to others. He had none of the elements of the orator, and yet few men could make a more effective speech either to court or jury. This ability to see a point clearly, to be able to arrive at a definite conclusion, and to be certain that he was right when he arrived at it, fitted him peculiarly for the office of judge, and yet it is doubtful whether even this great desideratum was his crowning glory as a judge. He was a fair man. No judge ever held the scales of justice more evenly poised than he. Friend or foe, rich or poor, white or black—he knew no distinctions, and all could come before him without fear of prejudice or hope of partiality. He did not know what it was to have an impulse of unfairness. Such a man is a born umpire, a predestined arbiter of the disputes of his fellows.

As a citizen Judge Gallagher filled every requirement. He was scrupulously honest and upright; enterprising in every good work, and of unquestioned patriotism. He acted with the democratic party until the war, since which time he has been a consistent, unswerving republican. The writer, who often conversed with him upon political topics, can bear testimony to his unselfish patriotism, and to the fixedness of his political views.

As a man and a neighbor Judge Gallagher was generous, hospitable, and kind. Indeed, he was beloved by all who knew him. His family relations were remarkably pleasant, and to his wife and son he was the embodiment of affectionate devotion. They will have the warmest sympathy of all who knew their loved husband and father.

Macon County Bar Meeting.

There was a very full meeting of the members of the Macon county bar, held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, in the circuit court room, for the purpose of taking action with reference to the burial of the late Judge A. J. Gallagher.

The meeting was called to order by Capt. J. S. Post. On motion of W. C. Johns, Captain Post was chosen chairman of the meeting.

W. T. Cussins placed in nomination W. C. Johns for secretary, and he was elected.

The chairman stated the object of the meeting to be to make arrangements for attending the funeral of the deceased.

On motion of A. B. Bunn, it was decided that the bar attend the funeral of the late Judge Gallagher in a body.

On motion of Chas. A. Ewing, the various officers of the circuit and county courts and any visiting attorneys were invited to attend the funeral.

Being acquainted with the desire of deceased's relatives, Judge W. E. Nelson suggested the names of Gen. R. J. Oglesby, Capt. J. S. Post, Judge C. B. Smith, ex-Mayors Frank Priest, J. J. Peddecord and A. T. Hill as pall-bearers. The suggestion took the form of a motion and it was adopted.

On motion Hon. A. B. Bunn, Samuel G. Malone, Chas. A. Ewing, I. A. Buckingham, E. R. Eldridge, and W. C. Johns were appointed by the chair as a committee to draft suitable resolutions of respect to be presented in open court Wednesday morning for adoption, when an opportunity would be given for memorial remarks.

The chair then appointed the following gentlemen to co-operate with the family in the care of the remains until the hour of the funeral: K. H. Roby, W. T. Cussins, Ed. S. MacDonald, Harry Crea, jr., B. I. Sterrett, J. C. Hostetler and F. B. Tait.

On motion the meeting then adjourned to reassemble at 9 a. m. to-morrow for the sole purpose of adopting the report of the committee on resolutions, and listening to such remarks as may be offered by members of the bar in memory of their deceased brother and friend.

R. P. LYTLE, P. M.

From Wednesday's Daily.

The Sand Creekers.

Persecuted Greenberry Jones danced to the music in Justice Curtis' court on yesterday afternoon, charged with threatening to take the life of his neighbor, John J. Williams, living on the Sand Creek claim, 3 miles southeast of the city. B. I. Sterrett appeared for the prosecution and Thos. Lee for the defense. Fourteen witnesses were examined, the evidence making it plain to the mind of the Justice that both parties to the suit were equally to blame, and Jones was accordingly discharged. The costs $8.15, were assessed against the complainant Williams.

The Atlanta Coal Shaft Abandoned.

A well-informed exchange says the parties engaged in sinking the coal shaft at Atlanta, in Logan county, have given up their project owing to their inability to pump the water out of the shaft. Prospects were favorable until this vast subterranean lake was struck. They have had two Knowles pumps, each throwing a four-inch stream, and were working incessantly day and night, but without success. The company will lose about ten thousand dollars in their enterprise. Let us all get down on our knees and pray that Frank Florer may not have a similar experience.

The 4th at the Fair Grounds.

The firemen of Decatur have about consummated their arrangements for a grand and glorious celebration of the 4th of July at the fair grounds, which have been fitted up in a suitable manner for this occasion. Personal invitations to attend have been sent to nearly every resident of this county, as well as to hundreds of people in neighboring towns.—Prof. Goodman's band will enliven the occasion with stirring music, and the visitors will be entertained by prize walking matches, wheelbarrow races, foot races, exhibition trotting matches, hose and hook and ladder company prize races, scrub and slow races, Indian club swinging, etc., etc.; to conclude with a grand "Tug of War." The programme has been carefully arranged for the entertainment of the public, and everybody is cordially invited to join the firemen in their festivities. Refreshments will be served on the grounds at moderate prices.

Paying Up Promptly.

County Treasurer Wood informs our reporter that the special assessments made for the improvement of streets amounts to nearly $15,000. The decisions rendered by the supreme court having settled the constitutionality of the assessments, many of the heaviest delinquents have already came forward and planked down their tax money and gone away with receipts in full, thus relieving themselves from further worry and annoyance. Those who don't want their property knocked off to purchasers of delinquent lots and lands will save trouble and additional expense by calling at the treasurer's office immediately and paying up in full.

Photograph Gallery.

Having purchased the photograph gallery of Mrs. T. H. Butler, I am prepared to do all kinds of photographic work in the best style of the art, having years of experience and the best of facilities, I can assure satisfaction to all who will favor me with their patronage. I make a specialty of copying and enlarging pictures to any size desired. Persons wishing paintings in oil, water colors, crayon, India ink or pastel, will find it to their interest to give me a call. I guarantee firstclass work. J. L. GIRARD, corner of Water and Park streets.

THE LATE JUDGE GALLAGHER.

From Wednesday's Daily.

Upon the assembling of the circuit court, this morning, Hon. A. B. Bunn arose and presented the following:

Death having deprived us of the presence in our midst of the Hon. Arthur J. Gallagher and of his companionship and counsel:

We, the members of the Bar of Macon county and the officers of the various courts, desire to have spread at large upon the records of the circuit and county courts, and after being engrossed, presented to the family the following testimonial to the memory of the deceased:

As a citizen, Arthur J. Gallagher was a firm believer in the maintainance of law and order, peace and morality; affable to all persons of whatever degree, just in his dealings, honorable and honest in his sentiments, he commanded and obtained from all people, whether personal acquaintances or not, the largest measure of honorable esteem and affection.

As a soldier, possessed that rarest merit of a brave man—modesty as to his military life and achievements; a soldier of two wars; brave to a degree that commanded the admiration of his companions in arms; an earnest, patriotic lover of his adopted country; bearing upon his person the scars which attested his devotion, it remained for his death to disclose to many of his friends and associates the fact of his heroism and services.

As a lawyer, Arthur J. Gallagher possessed in an eminent and conspicuous degree that rare combination which marks those great men who, by their attainments, have made glorious the honorable profession of the law. His honesty was incorruptible, unquestioned and unswerving; his mind clear and pure in its methods, grasping the philosophy and the practice of the law with remarkable comprehension; direct and honorable in his dealings; plain, forcible and truthful in argument; affable to his opponents; hating dishonesty and denouncing it when discovered; by his life and his example he did much to confirm in the minds of the people a good opinion of the law and its exponents.

As a judge, Arthur J. Gallagher earned and adorned the bright reputation and exhibited those characteristics which more than all else endeared him to the hearts of the people. He was pure and just in all his motives; he exhibited a profound and conscientious knowledge of the law and a love for its justice and equity, which caused him to apply it in its fullest measure, whether friend or foe was injured by his act; brief in decision, honest and correct in judgment, his decisions coming from a pure and uncorrupted source, gave general satisfaction and filled the perfect measure of the law.

While we feel that his death has fallen most heavily upon us who have witnessed his triumphs and justice and who have lost the benefit of his wisdom and purity in our counsels, yet we know that in his death the community at large has suffered an almost equal loss, and we mingle our heartfelt sorrow and grief at his death with that of all other good citizens who are mourning his untimely demise, and tender to his wife and child and to his relatives our sincerest sympathy in this their hour of sorrow.

After reading the report of the committee, Mr. Bunn proceeded to speak of the deceased jurist, saying that his acquaintance with Judge Gallagher began in 1853, upon the occasion of his first visit to Decatur. At that time he lived in Vandalia. Since that time their intercourse had been continuous and of the most pleasant character. From the time of Judge Gallagher's removal to Decatur, in 1856, the speaker had been intimately associated with him in the practice of the law, and he referred feelingly and eloquently to the many amiable qualities of the deceased—of his tenderness of heart, his freedom from everything like animosity towards any man, notwithstanding his hatred of everything like dishonesty. To his intimate friends he was always ready to give sound and valuable counsel, yet he never imposed himself upon anybody. When he had no kind word to say of anybody, he had no ill ones. Though not demonstrative he enjoyed the society of his friends. He was ever kind to his brethren in the profession, and especially to the younger members of the bar. It seemed to be a gratification to him to assist them. He was a law-abiding, moral man—always interested in every undertaking that was calculated to bring about good to the community. In sentiment he was a temperance man. He had a high appreciation of every effort made for the advancement of the cause of temperance. The speaker referred to the assistance rendered by Judge Gallagher to the cause, as represented by the Women's Christian Temperance Union. Towards his family he was as kind and gentle as ever mortal man could be.—He had a high appreciation of the domestic relation—he loved little children. As a lawyer Judge Gallagher was one of the most successful. He was a fair lawyer in his treatment of his opponent—always honorable, and never trying to misrepresent what seemed to be the truth in the case. His legal knowledge was equal, in the speaker's opinion, to that of any man he knew. He was learned in the law, and knew how to apply its principles to the business of the country. He never had any trouble in reaching the essence of the question—and his aim always was to arrive at what was real justice in the case. As a judge he stood deservedly high, and during his term of office became deservedly popular. The bar throughout the state learned to appreciate him, and soon came to regard him as one of the best judges in the state. It seemed that he had been created on purpose for a judge. Possessing a keen sense of justice and right he had but one desire, and that was to find out the real facts in the case, and then to apply the law to them, and thus attain the end sought for—justice. He was a candid man; he could lay aside every tendency to partiality, and do exact justice to all parties. No man, however low, however degraded, who was tried before him could say that Judge Gallagher was not fair to him. He was as kind in his intercourse with the bar as he was on all other occasions. He was careful to give offense to no one. When he decided a case he did it in such a way that it never gave offense to the defeated party. Gov. Palmer had said to the speaker that he thought Judge Gallagher had the finest "touch" of any judge before whom he had ever practiced. Mr. Bunn closed with an eloquent tribute to the memory of Judge Gallagher.

Captain Post said it was a great pleasure to talk about Judge Gallagher, as it was to associate with him in life. He had a good many peculiarities which distinguished him from the ordinary run of men. He had nothing of vanity about him, but a vast amount of pride. He was proud of his own opinions, proud of the good opinion of his friends. It was an honest pride, a justifiable pride. The speaker first met Judge Gallagher at Shelbyville, about thirty years ago. Soon afterwards he met him at Vandalia, and heard him argue a case, and made up his mind that the young man had a remarkably clear mind. He was a close student, and realized that there was no future for a lawyer who did not study. The speaker never knew Arthur J. Gallagher to be unjust, either at the bar or on the bench. He was a social man, loved his friends and liked to be with them. The speaker spoke at length of the judge's habits. But, he had passed away, and left a world of good behind him.

Mr. Buckingham, in seconding the motion of Mr. Bunn, said he found Judge Gallagher one of nature's noblemen, a true gentleman. His word was as good as his bond. He was truthfulness itself. No man had a better friend.

Gov. Oglesby said he came to listen, and had not intended to speak. He said it must be a great consolation to Judge Gallagher's friends to know that he had the good opinion of his brother lawyers. Next to that higher hope which all men have when they face death this must be the most pleasant. He had been a partner of the decased, and had a high appreciation of his abilities. He was not a showy man in speech. Neither he nor his predecessor, Judge Emerson, were fluent speakers, but both were eminent in their profound knowledge of the law. We shall miss him. His absence will be felt. He seemed to have dropped into our midst from a foreign world. He seldom referred to his history, as he seldom did to that of others. The loss of such men as Emerson and Gallagher (for the speaker could not separate them) was a calamity to all, but their examples should show the younger members of the bar how well it is for them to strike for the highest points in the profession. Every young lawyer must feel that they are fortunate in having such examples before them.—Judge Gallagher may have had his faults, but the speaker could not name them. He was as clear of fault as it falls to the lot of mortal man to be. During his intercourse with Judge Gallagher he had never heard him utter an unkind word or criticism upon a brother lawyer. The speaker knew Judge Gallagher when he was as poor as any man could be—when he had mortgaged his last book to pay a debt; but he was just as hopeful as ever. He was free from the frivolities of life, from all the trashy philosophies of the times. He died lamented by all.

Judge Nelson next spoke. For 22 years he had walked beside Judge Gallagher amid the trying vicissitudes of a lawyer's life. They had been engaged together and adversely. He had learned to recognize in him a model lawyer. He possessed in an eminent degree those qualities which go to make the lawyer. His peculiar amiability was the gracefulness that adorned the brave man and always excited the admiration of those who knew him best. His relations with the deceased had always been of the most pleasant character. The speaker spoke of the last meeting he had with the deceased, and of the pleasure its memories afforded him. All of us have occasion to imitate his character and habits as a lawyer. Judge Nelson, with much emotion and faltering voice, paid an eloquent tribute to the memory of his deceased friend.

S. G. Malone spoke of the manner in which the deceased came to be a candidate for the bench. He had not sought the office; it was the free gift of those who knew him best and admired him most.

Judge Smith said:

The resolutions presented by the committee of this bar to the full meeting of the bar and now asked to be entered of record in this court, very appropriately express the feelings I entertain toward our departed friend and brother, so far as words can photograph the thoughts and promptings of the soul, and yet they are but the tinkling cymbal and sounding brass—the hollow reverberation of the strong emotions of the soul that can find no words to give utterance to what it feels. In this busy and active life we are again called to stand in the presence of the great reaper who has cut down at our very side a loved and loving friend.

On last Monday, the 23d, Arthur J. Gallagher's life and light went out. He laid down the burthens, cares and joys of this life, and exchanged its stern realities and fitful dreams for the mysteries and rest of the grave; and we are met here, we with whom he lived and labored more intimately than all others, to pay the last sad tribute of love to his memory ere we shall lay his body to rest in peace in the bosom of our common mother, in the shadows and peace of the groves.

For many years I have known Judge Gallagher, and for the greater portion of that time I have known him intimately. It was my good fortune to share his friendship and, to a large degree, his confidence. I have known him at the bar, on the bench, in society and around his own fireside. As a lawyer, it is not saying too much to say that, all in all, he was the peer of any lawyer in the State. With a marvelously clear and comprehensive mind, habits of industry, a large and varied practice involving great interests, he rose rapidly to a just and honorable distinction in his profession, until at last he stood among the foremost of the known and recognized masters of his profession. The law was a goddess to him, at whose shrine he constantly worshiped with the most unrelenting devotion. Here he drank deeply and freely from the fountains of learning and wisdom of the ages, until his mind became a store-house, filled with the ripest knowledge of his profession, from which he might always draw without stint, and to the advantage of those he sought to instruct. He was never boisterous or rude to his antagonist or the court. Conscious of his strength and power he was dignified and courteous in all his intercourse with men.

Brave and determined in all things as Jove, he was yet modest and gentle as a woman. In nothing did his high character as a lawyer appear more clearly than his sincere and honest purpose to be a faithful and correct adviser of the court.

After winning the rewards, distinctions and honors of his profession as a lawyer, he was called to the bench by the almost unanimous voice of his district to discharge the more arduous and responsible duties of a judge. Here it was that he justified the partiality and discernment of his friends. Every trait of his character and his education were but so many arguments in favor of his fitness for the bench. He brought to the discharge of the duties of his office the learning and experience which a large and varied practice had given him. Through that same mistaken policy which has always required too much work at the hands of the judges of this State, Judge Gallagher found, on coming to the bench, a circuit twice as large as it was possible for any man to keep up; but with a determination worthy of all honor he struggled against hope for six long years, working early and late, trying to do what he could not do. He loved justice and right and hated all wrong, fraud and injustice with a perfect mind. He had a wonderful keen eye for a rogue and took delight in visiting upon all fraudulent tricks and devices the just condemnation they deserved. He carried to the bench that same gentle and patient quality of heart and mind which had distinguished him at the bar above his brethren. His face was as immovable on the bench as the Sphynx. No lawyer could ever tell, from any manifestations of his while hearing an argument, what the judgment would be. He had that rare quality of listening patiently and quietly to what was said, and determining at once between plausible error and naked truth. No man ever sat upon the bench who was more justly beloved by the bar and the people than Judge Gallagher, nor more deeply mourned by those who knew him best.

I knew him around his hearthstone, as he sat with his wife and his boy, when the shades of night called him from the cares of the day to the sweet amenities and loves of home. There I knew him and his faithful and loving wife, as gracious and intimate friends. It appeared to be a happy home. He loved his wife and boy with a strange, strong love. They clung to him and always dreaded his absence and loved his coming, though sometimes love looked through streaming eyes and felt with an aching heart.

But alas! at the very noonday of his life and of his usefulness, he is called from the busy days and nights, the turmoil and labor of this life, to the repose of the grave. In a few brief hours, with loving hands and aching hearts, we shall carry him to his final home on earth, and water his grave with our tears. As we mourn over his ashes and bid him a long farewell, let us not forget what he taught us while living, nor the sad and solemn warning we have in his dying. Let us cherish his memory, his friendships, and his honor as souvenirs of his life. Let us remember tenderly his wife and boy, in their deep affliction; and while we bow with them in submission to the will of the Master, we must stand dumb in the presence of their greater calamity and sorrow, but knowing still that our hearts feel tenderly for them in the bitterness of their grief.

And now at last our brother, our friend, though cold in death's embrace, yet still perchance, the loved and loving spirit hovers near to hear our last and long farewell. Peace to thy precious dust, and rest to thy gentle spirit.

The resolutions will be spread at large upon the records of this court, and the court will now adjourn until to-morrow morning, as a token of respect for the deceased.

Colonel Wolfe, of Champaign, who had come into the room during the remarks of Judge Smith, was invited to speak, and said that the bar of his county would be represented at the funeral. In a few well chosen words Col. Wolfe paid a high tribute to the memory of the deceased.

Court then adjourned for the day.

New Telegraph Line.

The "American Union Telegraph Company of Illinois" has been incorporated with headquarters at Springfield. The capital stock is $75,000, and the lines named are from where the Wabash railway crosses the State line (Indiana and Illinois) to Quincy, with branches in Decatur, St. Louis, Hannibal and other points. The corporators are Wabash railroad attaches, and the line is coextensive and identical with the present Wabash telegraph line, indicating that the road proposes hereafter to run its telegraph line on its own account, instead of the connection with the Western Union.

PLANTATION MANNERS are to the fore again in Congress. The chivalric Lamar hoof the lissical compound of front name—can swagger it seems with as much bravado as the muggah drivah of ante-war times. And of such is the Democratic party.

A solid South and a divided North is the fond anticipation of the confederate brigadier for in the realization of that hope he sees an industrious frugal people paying tribute to the shiftless long haired bulldozers of the South. The one aim of the Southern politician is the enjoyment of the honors and spoils of office at the expense of the North. And this includes something more than official salary. It includes indemnity for the losses of the war the huge levee schemes of the Mississippi states the Southern Pacific Railroad subsidy, the Brazilian steamship line subsidy and the numberless other schemes of public plunder which will ... people impoverished by war and idleness and determined to profit at the expense of their more industrious neighbors. This is the feast to which the confederate brigadier invite the nation ... which the Northern Democrats ... and ... the North.

AFFIRMED.

Opinions in the cases of ... Lass ... the City of Decatur and Wm Sawyer ... taken up to the Supreme Court upon appeal from the County Court of Macon county have been filed in the office of the clerk ... the court below ... was in favor of the city. It is presumed that this ... of the highest tribunal in the State will settle the question of the validity of the ... ordinance special assessment for street improvements and have the effect of putting several thousand dollars into the city treasury.

Mr. McMahon of Ohio made a statement on Thursday that shows either gross ignorance or a purpose to falsify when he said that the Democrats in Congress represent the vast majority of the people. The fact, as shown by the official returns of the vote cast in the various Congressional districts last fall, is that the Republicans in the House represent 257,000 more votes than the Democrats. It is well to keep these figures in mind when Democrats talk about the President setting up his views in opposition to the popular will.

It will be remembered that some months ago the young French Prince Imperial Eugene Louis Jean Joseph Napoleon Bonaparte son of the late Emperor Napoleon who has been residing in England since the disaster which swept his father from the throne departed with the English troops for South Africa ... Intelligence now comes of his death at the hands of the Zulus while on a reconnoitering tour. Our news ... contains full particulars of his death. The young prince was a little over 23 years of age and was the object of many fond hopes on the part of the imperial party in France who looked upon him as the future ruler of the restored empire ... generally ... will ... the downfall of ... Imperialists ... for nearly a century.

COMPLIMENTARY.

During the recent session of the Legislature Hon B K Durfee of this city took a very decided stand in favor of the reenactment of the law authorizing the incorporation of building associations and was finally successful in securing its passage. In recognition of his services in this regard the People's Building and Loan Association of Chicago ... adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved ... the ... Durfee ... efforts ... the law ... of Building and Loan Associations ...

Resolved, That ... tender ... the most ... appreciation of the services ... and ... statesmanship and ... for the public good.

Resolved, That the secretary ... of the association send a copy of these resolutions to the gentleman named.

YOU LIE!

The Senate of the United States is a very dignified body but sometimes its members get about as much excited as the participants of the traditional town meeting. Last night was one of these ... when Mr Brigadier Lamar and Roscoe Conkling indulged in the ... pastime of calling each other ... names that are in better place in a New York gin mill. We quote from the report of last night's proceedings:

Senator Conkling having charged the others with bad faith, in not allowing the time taken by the Mississippi river commission bill this morning to be allowed in debate on the army bill Senator Lamar rose at the conclusion of Conkling's remarks and said that, as far as any intimation of bad faith was concerned he had lived in vain if he was not superior to such a charge from such a source. It is not my purpose he said to indulge in personalities but I will say to the senator that if he intended to intimate that anything I have done was not in good faith I pronounce his statement a falsehood which I repel with all the unmitigated contempt that I feel for the author of it.

Senator Conkling who had been walking slowly back and forth behind the benches ... to his seat and said:

Mr President—I was inattentive during the ... of the remarks the culmination of which I heard from the member from Mississippi. If I understood ... the member from Mississippi ... statement ... this senate ... at ... the ... mistake.

The presiding officer ... Lamar ... Conkling ...

Whether I ... the member from Mississippi depends entirely upon what that member intends to say and what he did say and for the time being I do not choose to hold any communication with him. I understand the senator to state in plain unparliamentary language that the statement of mine to which he refers was a falsehood. If I caught his words aright I have only to say this act being the plea to measure with any man the ... may ... rules of the senate or recommit any of the ... of life. I have only to say that if the senator the member from Mississippi did impute or intended to impute to me a falsehood nothing except the fact that this is the senate would prevent my denouncing him as a blackguard and coward. [Applause] ... Mr President ... the member from Mississippi except in the presence of the senate charge me by intimation or otherwise with falsehood I would denounce him as a blackguard as a coward and a liar. The rules and proprieties of the senate are the only restraint upon me. I do not think I need say anything else Mr President. [Applause and hisses]

The chair demand ... quiet in the galleries.

Lamar—I have only to say that the senator from New York understood me correctly. I did mean to say just precisely the words and all that they imparted. I beg pardon of the senate for the unparliamentary language. It was very harsh. It was severe. It was such as no good man would deserve and no brave man would wear. [Renewed demonstrations of approval and disapproval.]

The Chair—The galleries will be cleared upon any repetition of applause.

Conkling—What is the question before the senate?

The discussion of the power to send for absent senators was resumed.

In the ... judicial district in the last judicial canvass one of the candidates was ... W. Stipp a democrat who it is alleged had been an admirer of Bacchus but reformed just previous to the canvass. During the canvass he was talking with a democratic friend in which the latter rather took him to task. "Well" said Stipp "is it ... drink that is not very much in fact I drink a little so as to keep up my standing in my party." He was the only democrat elected in that district.

THE Greenback journals are still pratching over the division in the National party in Ohio. The Terre Haute Express which at first favored Ewing now urges the Ohio Nationals to support Piatt. THE MANNERS OF MR BLAINE Chicago Times.

Democrats of every caliber class and condition are in a state of mind about Mr Blaine. He carries into the senate the manners of the house. He has no regard for traditional gravity and decorum. He is too sudden in his demands too aggressive in his demeanor. He always has his eye on his opponents and is altogether too unanimous in taking advantage of mistakes. He is liable to interrupt a distinguished Democrat at any moment and fire off at him facts and figures of a discouraging and depressing nature. He is apt to meet impressive statement with point blank denials and to cool impassioned declamation by a merciless application of wet blanket facts. He has a bad habit of asking uncomfortable questions at inopportune moments, and of dashing into a debate under a full head of steam—He is a great disturber of Democratic peace and the senators can't get used to him.

All this reminds us of a little story. Once upon a time a mischievous boy was called to consider the case of a sleepy stubborn old fogy sort of a mare. She lacked animation and enterprise and the boy was moved to put a burr under her tail. This he did with neatness and dispatch and the surprising antics of the venerable mare were a wonder to the neighborhood.

Mr Blaine seems to have experimented in like manner upon the old Democratic party. It rears snorts plunges kicks ... and indulges in all sorts of queer performances ... It is belligerent and skittish by turns but is always suspicious and uncomfortable when Blaine is on the floor.

Mr Eaton thinks Mr Blaine is too inquisitive. Mr Hill argues that he is too bumptious. Mr Davis suggests that he is too emphatic. Mr Kernan explains that he is too meddlesome and another prominent but ... Democrat says "Blaine thrashes round our cornfield in such a way as to cause me to want to knock him down."

The sum and substance of the complaints against Blaine is that he is a great annoyance to the Democrats in the senate. For this the people will forgive him. Mr Blaine happens to be a ready debater and a forcible speaker. He was a leader in the house because of certain talents and qualifications—Why his manners that made him distinguished as a leader in the house should be unbecoming in the senate it is not easy to understand. Mr Hill conducts himself in the senate precisely as he did in the house and yet there are no references to his house manners.

Mr Blaine did a good work in the exciting debate of Wednesday as he has done in nearly every debate of the session. The fact that he is always in front striking hard blows right and left speaks well for his earnestness and efficiency explains his success in thwarting Democratic schemes and sheds light on the cause of Democratic dislike for his senatorial manners.

Death of Dr Culver

We have received a copy of The ... Star published at Washington D C, containing the announcement of the death of Dr Frederick B Culver which took place in that city at 11 o'clock on Monday June 16th. The deceased was a son in law of the late Thomas O Smith, formerly of this city having married his daughter Miss Alice Smith in Washington city several years ago. The funeral of Dr Culver took place from his late residence on the 17th instant and was attended by Mrs Dr H C Johns who has been ... on a visit for a number of weeks.

A Card of Thanks

For the tender care exercised over our mother during her last illness by relatives and other faithful friends we are under great obligations. It is impossible to repay them for their kindness but we highly appreciate it, and pray that He who does not allow even a cup of cold water given to a disciple to escape His notice will ever grant them the largest measure of His favor.

THE assignments of Judges to the Appellate Courts of the several districts of this state made by the Illinois Supreme Court at Mt Vernon, on Saturday last are as follows:

First District—James M Bailey, William K McAllister and Isaac G Wilson.

Second District—George W Pleasants, Lyman Lacey and Nathaniel J Pillsbury.

Third District—Chauncey L Higbee, Oliver L Davis and D McCulloch.

Fourth District—David J Baker, Geo W Wall and Thomas S Casey.

A TINGE of sadness pervades the notices in our Indiana exchanges that Governor Williams has laid his blue jeans aside and put on aristocratic cassimere. It is like the death of an old friend. The governor thinks blue jeans is a competent issue in Indiana but it is hardly adequate for a national platform. He thinks Tilden Williams and reform would sound sweet as a chestnut bell. Indianapolis Journal.

COMMON LAW DOCKET

The ejectment case of Wm P Atterberry vs David P Keller which went on trial Wednesday forenoon is still occupying the attention of the court and twelve petit jurymen. The attorneys in the case are Crea & Ewing, for the plaintiff, and W C Johns and I A Buckingham for the defendant. The parties live near Macon and Atterberry is endeavoring to recover from Keller the possession of about an eighth of an acre of land, worth a little over four dollars. To the chronic court room frequenter it is one of the least interesting cases that has been called up for trial this term. The concluding argument will be delivered by Mr Crea this afternoon, when the jury will retire and decide the question.

Death of Ex Policeman Joseph P Leake This Morning

From Friday's Daily

We are called upon to chronicle the death of Joseph P Leake which took place at his late residence on Sangamon street in the ... ward at about 7 o'clock this morning. He had been confined to his room since early in the spring with an asthmatic complaint.

Mr Leake leaves a wife and a large family to mourn his loss. He was an honest Hibernian citizen and a man of strong convictions.

At the organization of the ... ward in 18... he was chosen to represent his people in the city council as an alderman which he did faithfully and efficiently for two years. In 1877 under Mr Chambers administration he was put on the police force where he remained until sickness incapacitated him for active duty.

1 Fine Set Bedroom Furniture,	125 00
2 Singer Sewing Machines, each	50 00
1 Fine "Runsom" Cooking Range,	1 00
1 Charter Oak Cook Stove, for wood or coal,	42 00
Total,	$607 00

The drawing will take place when 10,000 tickets are given away. Any person may secure a ticket who purchases 25 cents worth of anything in our line, &c.

Fine Cut, Plug and Smoking Tobaccos,

CIGARS, PIPES, or anything in the smoker's line; also

We have and will always have on hand one of the largest stocks of Tobacco in the county. Among our Plug Tobaccos we shall keep in stock "Glory" and "Bona Fide," two celebrated brands of fine tobacco, which for richness of chew have no equal. Among our Cigars we shall keep Kepler's Boquet and Queen, also Michl's Boquet, the old standby cigar. Our Barber Shop is too well known to say much about it. Nearly all the business men of Decatur have their work done with us, and not only recently but since 1864. Our prices on Tobacco and Cigars are as low as the lowest, and we charge no more for Hair Cutting, Shaving, and Shampooing than you will have to pay for inferior work elsewhere.

The Gent's Gold Watch and Chain and Lady's Gold Watch were purchased of Curtis & Ewing, who will take pleasure in showing them to any one who may visit their establishment. The Bedroom set of Furniture was purchased of Ashby & Andress, furniture dealers, sign of the Elephant, (corner of Water and Prairie streets. The "Runsom" Cooking Range is on exhibition at Morehouse & Wells' hardware store. The Charter Oak Cook Stove was purchased of Close & Griswold, and can be seen at their store.

The cost of the above goods are not fancy prices, but actually paid by us. The drawing will be a public one. Bearing in mind that the more tickets you have, the better your chances for one or all the articles. One ticket may draw a prize, but if you have more tickets you have more chances.

LUCKY BALDWIN'S RANCH.

San Francisco correspondence Baltimore Sun

E. J. Baldwin, everywhere known as Lucky Baldwin, worked on his father's farm when young, in Indiana. After twenty-five years of trial at various pursuits he drifted into the bonanza district, Nevada, and in a few years, by well-judged ventures in mining stocks, realized some millions. He became publicly known by building "The Baldwin," now so favorably known as a popular house on Market street, San Francisco, 275 by 210 feet. Included in the structure is Baldwin's Theatre. The whole, including furniture, cost $3,000,000. Traveling through Los Angeles county he fancied and bought a Spanish grant of 60,000 acres of beautifully-watered garden-land and laid it out in princely style. Of this, 13,000 acres are moist bottom land, needing no irrigation. Outside of this he has artificially irrigated most of the property by means of six miles of eight inch pipe, and beautiful lakes are formed here and there, with rustic bridges and other adornments. Some fifty rustic cottages are the homes of his army of working people. All sorts of farm buildings are tastefully arranged, and flowing artesian springs abound, of purest water. The orchard has 1,200 acres, with 18,000 orange and lemon trees, 2,000 almonds, 500 Italian chestnuts, 80 acres of English walnuts, 500 acres of choice grapes, innumerable apples, pears, plums, peaches and figs. He has 60,000 eucalyptus trees of twenty-seven different varieties, and 3,000 of the graceful pepper-trees, our most ornate evergreen and drooping variety, bearing a profusion of pepper-looking spice-berries. A broad avenue is laid out, three miles long by 120 feet broad, lined on each side with eucalyptus trees. In the centre is a row of pepper-trees, making grateful shade in that sunny climate, and the air is cooled by innumerable fountains. Soon a mansion in keeping with the surroundings will be erected on a rising knoll overlooking this fairy-land, and some hundred tenantry, with gardens and cultivated fields, will enrich the landscape and make this charmed spot a paradise, where the proprietor can pass his declining years in peaceful contemplation of the romance of his creation.

HALSTEAD ON THE WAR-SECRETARYSHIP.

Mr. Halstead, in an interview with a reporter of the Cincinnati Times, in speaking of his "talked-of" appointment as Secretary of War, said: "I don't know anything about the duties of the office. I don't care anything about them. I don't want to know anything about them. I don't know the line from the staff, and if in that office I would be raising thunder all the time with everybody round me. Why, the Secretary of War is only a clerk to the President, and I am sure I never would be a clerk to the President. There is no money in it for me. I couldn't afford to leave my business here and go to Washington to fool with a Cabinet office. I couldn't get the office if I wanted it, I wouldn't have it if I could get it; they would be fools to give it to me if I would take it. The thing is too absurd to give any serious thought to. I haven't seriously considered it because I have looked upon it as being too foolish, and I am certain I do not propose to be bothered about it."

Only one side Could have been Right

Albany Evening Journal (Rep.)

It is not possible that the cause of the south and the cause of the north were both "the cause of truth and justice." Both could not be right. In the bloody and deadly struggle which rent the land for four years and still fills it with mourning, the righteous principles were not equally on both sides. If the Confederate cause was "the cause of truth and justice," then the Union cause was the opposite; and when Senator Morgan affirms the one, he logically maintains the other. In order to pay all proper respect and honor to the memory of the Confederate dead, it is not necessary to assert that they fought in a just cause. To do that is to reassert the doctrine of Rebellion, and to show that its spirit is still cherished.

In the "Wrong Pew."

It is reported that while at Virginia City, Nevada, Anna Louise Cary and Mlle. Litta lost their way to the opera house where they were to sing, and wandered into the court house, which they mistook for it. They wandered about in the corridors and finally reached the vestibule of the jail, where an iron gate was slammed in their faces, the turnkey assuring them they could not enter, but generously offering to take any message they might wish to send their brother. "Great heavens, what brother?" exclaimed Miss Cary, impatiently. "We want to go up on the stage." "There ain't any stage to this 'ere jail, Miss," said the turnkey, and it required all the nerve of the fair singers to keep from fainting.

The Gubernatorial Question.

Elgin (Ill.) Advocate (Rep.)

Our candidate for the next Governor of Illinois is the Right-Royal, Honest old "Dick" Oglesby. If the people can get another turn at Honest Dick, they will make him Governor with mighty emphasis. Send word along the line that Oglesby is coming, and we'll hear loud shouting.

JEFFERSON DAVIS' LAST SPEECH.

From the Columbus (Miss.) Independent, June 13.

Mr. Davis was deeply moved by the enthusiastic welcome given him and the soul-spoken address to which he has listened. Facing the audience, he said: "I love Mississippi! In vigorous manhood I sought, as a soldier, to place laurels on her brow; as a prisoner in a dungeon I sought to honor her by wearing with fortitude the chains her enemies locked around me; and I hope to live to weave another chaplet for her honored brow. I defended Mississippi when she was reviled for repudiating her obligations, and I defended her because she had never repudiated an honest debt. I defended her for her act of secession, because secession is the rightful remedy and the last and only resort for preserving constitutional liberty, when the dominant party to the constitutional compact disregards the restraints wisely imposed for the preservation of the liberties of the people against the aggressions of those in authority. In the act of secession you did no wrong and I did no wrong. But whatever you and I may think about it, of one truth I am confident. I have never seen a reconstructed Southern woman, and such women will yet raise up children to vindicate that you and I were right. Do not think that I am preaching another revolution or stirring up party strife. I am only declaring my undoubting conviction of the God-granted righteousness of our cause, and that it will yet be vindicated. Like Job, in the desolation of her sackcloth and ashes Mississippi can say, I believe my avenger liveth."

After complimentary remarks about the press of Mississippi, Mr. Davis paid a tribute to the ladies, and returning thanks for the generous welcome extended to him, his full heart overflowed, and stretching out his hands, like some God-chosen patriarch, his voice trembled as he said "Mississippians, women and men, I love you all. God bless you, bless you and preserve you, one and all."

After Mr. Davis had finished speaking it was announced that all those desiring so to do could pay their respects to him. He was soon surrounded, and some who are now boys and girls will tell, when gray and bent, how they shook hands with Jefferson Davis at the Mississippi Press Association.

HITTING BACK.

The Okolona States lets fly the following at "the renegade Democrats of Yankeedom," who deny the Democracy of the States:

"They deny us, and say that we are not Democrats!

"That lie should burn their tongues and blister their souls.

"They know full well that our Democracy is the Democracy of the South—the Democracy of eight out of every ten followers of our party flag on their side of the Ohio and the Potomac;

"They know full well that our Democracy was their Democracy in 1860;

"They know full well that our Democracy is their Democracy to-day, unless they are Radicals at heart, and only remain in our camp to capture the loaves and fishes in the communities where we have a majority:

"They know that the Democratic party is—

"The States Rights party;

"The Secession party;

"The White Man's party.

"They know full well that the Peace men, the Vallandigham men, of 1861-5, were heart and soul in sympathy with the old Confederacy;

"That they rejoiced in our victories.

"That they lamented our defeats.

"They organized the 'Sons of Liberty' and 'Knights of the Golden Circle' to weaken the War party, and hamper Lincoln and his hirelings in their devil work of destruction.

"We know this; and the whole broad world of men know that the present professions of the bastard Democrats of Yankeedom clash discordantly with their acts and utterances in the battle years of 1861-5.

THE Cincinnati Gazette says: "The tramp bill which passed the Ohio House Thursday, and is now a law, defines a tramp as any person who goes about begging and asking subsistance by charity, in a county in which he does not have a home. Any tramp who shall enter a dwelling house or inclosure without the permission of the owner or occupant, and shall not leave when requested, or who shall be found conveying firearms, or shall do or threaten injury to any one, shall, upon conviction, be imprisoned in the penitentiary from one to three years. The law empowers any one to apprehend the offender and take him before a justice of the peace. Women and blind men are expected from the provisions of the act."

An Infantile View.

This is the view taken of it by an infant of St. Joseph, Missouri:

Little Freddie was undergoing the disagreeable operation of having his hair combed by his mother, and he grumbled at the manœuvre.

"Why, Freddie," said mamma, "you ought not to make such a fuss. I don't fuss and cry when my hair is combed."

"Yes," replied the youthful party, "but your hair ain't hitched to your head.—Harper's Magazine for July.

KILLED BY ZULUS.

Tragic Death of the French Imperial Prince.

LONDON, June 20.—The following are additional particulars of the death of the Prince Imperial: The body of the Prince, when found, lay on its back.—There were eighteen assegai stabs in it, two of them piercing the body from the chest to the back: two in the side, and one destroying the right eye. A locket with hair medallions and a reliquary were found around his neck. The face wore a placid expression. He had evidently ineffectually tried to mount his horse, and the leather of the flap tearing, he ran along the path to where he was found. Two troopers lay near the body, both assegaied. The Prince was very adventurous.

An official account says the Prince, with Lieutenant Carey, of the Ninety-eighth Regiment, six men and one friendly Zulu, left the camp at Kelitzi Mountain, seven miles above Blood river, on the 1st instant, for a reconnoisance. The party halted and unsaddled when ten miles from camp. Just as the Prince gave the order to remount, a volley was fired from an ambush in the long grass. Lieutenant Carey and four of the troopers returned to the camp and reported that the Prince and two troopers were missing. From their statements there could be no doubt that the Prince was killed. A party of the Seventeenth Lancers, with an ambulance, started on the 2d instant to recover the body of the Prince, which was found and brought in on the same day.

A special dispatch says: "At daybreak a cavalry patrol, under General Marshall, left to search for the Prince, and went to the kraals, ten miles further on. The body was discovered among the long grass, 300 yards from the kraal. There was no bullet wound, but seventeen assegai wounds were in front of the body. The clothes had been taken, but round his neck was the chain with a locket. A stretcher on lances was formed, and the body borne by General Marshall and officers Drury, Lowe and Stewart, of the Seventeenth Lancers, to meet the ambulance, by which it was then brought hither with the escort.—There was a funeral parade in the afternoon." Deep sorrow prevails throughout the column. The Prince did not mount after the attack, his horse being restive, but ran afoot. The corpse will leave with an escort for transportation homeward. The news of the death of the Prince reached London at a late hour last night. At about 1 this morning it was circulated in the lobbies of the House of Commons, when, in reply to inquiries, Colonel Stanley, Secretary of the State for War, read the foregoing official telegram.

The London journals, while deeply deploring the Prince's death, regard it as the end of Imperialism in France.

THE South does not want immigrants. They prefer to doze out a sleepy existence, under old rules and regulations, to having fresh blood and Northern energy, with its demand for free speech. The Greensboro (N. C.) North State says:

It is a sad fact for this worn-out and famished state that of the thousands of men who came thither, invested their means, and attempted to make home under Republican rule, to-day but few remain. At the loss of their all they have wandered away to seek a home where they can speak their sentiments and vote as they deem best, without subjection to insult, abuse, and villification of such men as Governor Vance. Immigrants from all countries and all states pass North Carolina by; the "carpet-baggers" lose all rather than remain, and many of her own sons seek in states—where schools, the polls, and speech are free—a new home.

THE Daily Sentinel, of Brenham, Texas, of June 11, gives a lengthy account of laying the corner-stone of a Methodist church in that place. Among the treasured articles placed in the copper box deposited under the corner-stone was "a copy of the Holy Bible, Confederate bonds of the various denominations, and photographs of Jeff. Davis and all the leading Confederate Generals, and a copy of The Sweet By and By, with words and notes."

NEW YORK has adopted the novel plan originated a year ago by New Jersey for checking corruption in local government. This plan is to permit twenty-five freeholders in any town or incorporated village in the state, who believe that their taxes are not being honestly expended, to demand of the Supreme Court Justice of that district a summary investigation into the financial affairs of their local government.—The Justice has the power to appoint an expert or experts to make the investigation, and can use all the authority of his office to enforce his orders. One of the best features of the law is the way in which the cost of these inquiries is to be met. If the accusations are sustained, the delinquent officials pay the expenses, but if the freeholders have brought charges which cannot be made good, then they must pay the expense of the investigation.

THE prospects now are that the Democratic dish of crow is about ready and that the brigadiers will soon gulp it down and go home.

A PRESS dispatch from Boston announces the capture in that city of one Chastine Cox a negro who admits that he is the murderer of Mrs Hull of New York Some of the stolen property was found in his possession and he gives full details of his horrid crime The capture is due to the industry and shrewdness of a Boston newspaper reporter named Balch

CARTER HARRISON the Democratic mayor of Chicago owes his election to the socialist vote On Sunday the socialists took the law into their own hands and shot down a dozen unoffending citizens and Carter says he doesn't think that there is any cause for alarm that the socialists will not create any trouble unless they are interfered with and that he does not propose to interfere with them This is Democratic government and the Americans and Irishmen who were shot down in cold blood by Carter Harrison socialistic supporters doubtless appreciate it

A NEW METHOD.

Who will not say that this is not an age fertile in invention? Everything is done after a new plan and strange as it may seem another way to pay old debts has been discovered The township of Harp in our neighboring county of DeWitt some years ago voted a donation in aid of a railroad and bonds were issued for that purpose The people however, actuated by the spirit of repudiation which seems to have afflicted that county as well as some others, concluded to refuse payment of the interest on the bonds and the funds of the township were therefore returned to the county treasurer as delinquent That officer, as in duty bound proceeded to advertise and sell but here comes in the application of the new method of liquidating obligations by which the sovereigns of Harp stole a march on the bloated bondholders The tax sale was to take place on Saturday and when that day arrived Clinton found itself invaded by one hundred and fifty Harpites, who scattered themselves among the crowd and informed all present that they had better not bid on the lands offered for sale Such a request coming from a hundred and fifty armed men is apt to meet with a ready compliance as it did on this occasion and the delinquent lands in Harp were therefore not sold The plan was effectual but it smacks a good deal of Mississippi

SET YOUR FOOT DOWN, GOVERNOR CULLOM

Our news columns to-day give the particulars of an outbreak at Chicago yesterday in which a company of socialist sharpshooters made an attack upon a crowd of peaceable citizens wounding several This occurrence is one of the events which the militia law passed by the last legislature seeks to prevent by prohibiting the organization of armed military companies other than those belonging to the regularly authorized militia of the state and this Sunday outbreak proves the wisdom of the new law which goes into effect on the first day of July There are in Chicago several of these Communistic organizations and they propose to parade under arms on the coming Fourth of July Let Governor Cullom insist upon the enforcement of the law and he will be backed by every good citizen of the State There is but one way to deal with this socialistic element and that is with an iron hand None but heroic remedies will answer and the authorities may as well understand that fact at once This spawn of the very worst and most turbulent of all the elements of European society must be taught to realize that while this is a free country it is also one in which the laws must be observed no matter whether they happen to suit them or not America opens its doors to the oppressed of all lands but when the oppressed come here they must expect to respect our laws or swim back or suffer the consequences

THE dark cloud that has so long hung over the professional career of Edward Payson Weston the pedestrian has at last rolled away and once more he stands under the bright sunlight of public approbation Thirteen years ago when he undertook the task of walking from Portland Me to Chicago, he accomplished the feat he was the hero of the times Since then he has engaged in many pedestrian contests, and gradually fallen behind the newer candidates for public favor in this particular line of sports until finally, his name was a by word with sporting men and he himself the laughing stock of America Whether in Chicago, New York London or other great cities where Weston has entered in walking matches during the past few years he has suffered defeat and when it was made public that he was to contest with several noted pedestrians, the match which ended in London yesterday, there was a great deal of amusement manifested amongst sporting men and the general belief as to his chances of success was manifested in the tremendous odds offered against him, which very few were courageous enough to accept But Weston has redeemed himself, his record and the pedestrian interests of his country He has accomplished an unprecedented task and to-day stands on the very pinnacle of pedestrian fame Covering a distance of 550 miles in six days he has beaten the former record of Brown the only competitor who held out against him to the end in the contest and accomplished what no other pedestrian has, and demonstrated more fully and forcibly than heretofore the remarkable "staying" qualities which he was known to possess The United States have won glory enough in the world for one season With the unparalleled performance of Parole on the turf and the wonderful achievement of Weston the Englishmen have beyond doubt lost enough prestige and money to satisfy their ambitions in these directions and, more than all, convinced themselves that there is no use contesting against American bipeds or quadrupeds

THE trial of James Currie, the murderer of the actor Porter at Marshall, Texas was begun yesterday at that place, but a continuance was granted upon application of the defendant on account of the absence of an important witness It seems that in Texas as in Illinois they have the same convenient loophole through which red handed criminals are allowed to escape punishment, or at least delay justice The ease with which continuances are obtained often on trumped up affidavits has come to be a disgrace to our system of jurisprudence and calls loudly for additional legislation

"Powder and Shot" from the Representative Southern Journal

Okolona Miss Southern States June 18

Wait until we see our battering ram at work on your free schools We will send the last brick and board of them sailing into the blue empyrean, beyond the eyesight of mortal man

There shall be no compromise Messrs Yankees and there shall be no conciliation Shaking hands across the bloody chasm is "played out" in this part of America Scattering Yankee flowers on Confederate tombs will hereafter be resented as a rank insult to our immortal braves

O say you bastard Democrats up there in Yankeedom! It seems that you are falling short of fresh, lovely and magnificent lies in regard to the States Have you run your little brains clean plumb dry in the manufacture of falsehoods? It begins to look that way to a fellow up a liberty pole But do not be discouraged, sweet hearts You might go on and swear by all the gods and small fishes in the universe that we were shot to death for desertion once upon a time or hanged for murder etc etc etc We'll help you out if you're stuck in your own mud

The Bonny Blue Banner was unfurled at Winchester Va one day lately, at the dedication of a Confederate monument The fact was wired from seaboard to seaboard, and the whole Yankee nation laid back on its hams and howled for all that was out They haven't forgotten how that dear old banner carried dismay into their country in the years of yore they haven't forgotten how they fled before it every time the Confederate and Federal forces were equal they haven't forgotten that they were unable to lower its proud folds until they had drummed and trumpeted for recruits throughout Christendom They know very well that the Red, White and Red would be floating over an independent Southern Confederacy to day if they had fought us single handed Unfurl the Bonny Blue a little more frequently, boys Unfurl it, we say It is our old flag still Our holiest memories cluster in its folds, our highest patriotism is symbolized by its quenchless stars

Gen Schuyler Hamilton said, in a speech on Decoration Day "Last year at the foot of Abraham Lincoln's statue I defended the practice of decorating with flowers the graves of the rebel dead impartially with those of our dead comrades My heart was not in those words They were spoken in a fit of sentimental generosity aroused by misrepresentations of prominent rebels I beg to apologize for these remarks I would now urge that no member of Abraham Lincoln Post lay a flower on the grave of a rebel They were traitors in 1861 they are traitors now All winter long they have been plotting treason in the halls of congress The same hearts burn and the same arms can be wielded as in 1861 and many of us live again to wield them, if necessary —N Y Sun

Yes and the next time that you come down here slaying and stealing, and leaving a red track of desolation in your wake, there will be no surrender on our part We have an old score to settle with your side of the house and mark the prediction when the Twelfth Hour of Settlement strikes you will find us ready and remorseless As for your flowers sirrah you and your Abraham Linkhorn Post will please keep them off of the graves of our dead A Yankee soldier has no business laying a lily or rose on the resting place of a Confederate brave A murderer might as well enwreathe the monument of his victim with immortelles

"St. Peter's" Suicide.

A valuable 10-year old horse belonging to Rev Wm Brennard, the good pastor of the Christian church, at Newburg, in this county, committed suicide one day last week in the following manner He was standing in his stall, quietly blinking the happy hours away when a big blue bottle horse fly got in his work on old "St Peter's" nose when he gave a heavy lunge backward breaking his halter The door of the stable was open and the startled horse went out like a flash In the yard he recovered himself, but his nose still itched, and meandering up to the side of the barn found temporary relief by rubbing his proboscis against the weather beaten boards Turning to leave the dangling halter caught in a big iron staple, and poor old "St Peter" jerking back suddenly two or three times, chocked himself to death We are informed that there is deep mourning in the minister's family

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 21.—The worst local tragedy since the burning of the Holyoke French Church, in 1875, and one of the coolest and most deliberate murders on record, was perpetrated this afternoon at South Holyoke by John Kemmler, aged 48, and a former Germania Mills employe, in the killing, by shooting, of his children, Annie, aged 6, Lutmiller, 4, and Amy, 1,—the third being a relic of triplets. The Kemmlers live in an attic at No. 375 Park street, the Germania Corporation Block, in comparative poverty, the father having been out of work since February, when he deserted his family to go to Denver, Col., after appropriating the family savings of $260 from the Savings Bank at Holyoke and Northampton, and returning only recently. His wife supported herself and children by working in the mills at odd jobs. Moreover, Kemmler was ordered to vacate his tenement on the ground of not working in the mill, which probably ripened his determination. While he sent his wife up the street about 2 p. m. to buy a hat for Amy, he called the children up-stairs from the street on promises of candy, and locked the doors. He first designed to poison them, for which purpose he had got enough cyanide of potassium to kill half a dozen families. He tried feeding it to them in gruel, but was only able to get a few spoonfuls down Annie's throat, on account of the taste, and, it being an overdose, the victim threw it up. Seeing this wouldn't work well, he took Lutmiller into the front bedroom, shut the door, and, drawing a 32-calibre Smith & Wesson five-shooter, shot her through the head, just back of the ears. Leaving her weltering in her gore, he took Annie to the bedroom, shot her in like manner, and left her on the floor covered with blood and vomit. Kemmler then laid Amy on the bed in the rear bedroom, and shot her also through the head, behind the ears, burning the pillow. The work in each case was done clean, the revolver being placed against the head, as large powder-burns on each face clearly showed, and the bullets, going straight through both parietal bones of each child's skull. The murderer then, locking the doors, went to a neighboring saloon, where he gave the barkeeper the tenement key, and said he had killed his children. He then strolled up town, remarking that he had taken his last glass of beer. When arrested, in an up-town saloon, he gave up the revolver, and coolly acknowledged the crime. He said he didn't want his children to grow up and run the risk of becoming prostitutes. He could not support his family, and could not see them in want, and thought the best way was to kill them, when they would go to Heaven and be happy forever. He had intended to shoot himself, but finally concluded it to be wrong, and would let the law take its course. He wanted to die anyhow. Kemmler takes the affair very philosophically. There is great excitement at Holyoke. Kemmler was born at Wurtemburg, in 1831, and has been in this country seventeen years. He could not agree with his wife.

NEW YORK, June 21.—A London dispatch, time 11 o'clock, says: The great contest is finished, and Weston is being proclaimed with shouts and cheers "Champion of the world." Weston completed his 550th mile at precisely 11 o'clock, thereby winning the belt, his bet, and the championship. From two o'clock this afternoon until eight this evening Weston accomplished the astonishing feat of making five miles an hour. During these six hours the excitement was something wonderful, and the plucky hero of the hour was greeted with shouts and cheers as he boldly plodded along against time.

From 8 o'clock the excitement steadily increased, and reached its culminating point just before the finish. At 9:30 o'clock Weston had made the highest score on record, namely, 543 miles and five laps, beating "Blower" Brown's great score of 542 miles. The hall at this time was filled with an enthusiastic crowd, who seemed never to grow tired of cheering. Weston, though evidently suffering somewhat from fatigue, maintained a smiling face, and was the recipient of many friendly greetings. The great struggle came to an end at 11 o'clock, Weston doing 550 miles, with five minutes to spare.

During the closing hours of the great performance Weston looked in good trim, and, at times, went around the track like a steam engine. Large numbers of Americans were present. The cheering was lusty and hearty as Weston occasionally broke into brisk runs. New York went to bed late last night, so elated is everybody with the success of Weston. There is general rejoicing.

Y. M. C. A. News.

The following gentlemen composing the executive committee of the Illinois Young Men's Christian Association, will meet in this city on Saturday next for the purpose of making arrangements for the meeting of the state convention of the association, which is to be held in this city August 28th to 31st, inclusive:

R. D. Russell, Jacksonville, chairman; S. A. Kean, Chicago, treasurer; W. W. Vanarsdale, Chicago, secretary; John V. Farwell, Chicago; H. B. Hargreaves, Dwight; H. G. Spafford, Chicago; I. R. Diller, Springfield; A. T. Hemingway, Chicago; I. E. Brown, Decatur; F. F. Henning, Chicago; D. B. Parkinson, Carbondale.

A number of these gentlemen may remain here over Sunday, in which case there will be unusually interesting exercises held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, on Merchant street.

OPTIMISM AND PESSIMISM.

Two Ways of Looking at Things.

From the New York Independent.

Two boys went to hunt grapes. One was happy because they found grapes. The other was unhappy because the grapes had seeds in them.

Two men, being convalescent, were asked how they were. One said: "I am better to-day." The other said: "I was worse yesterday."

When it rains one man says: "This will make mud." Another: "This will lay the dust."

Two boys got an oyster. One looked at it, and declared it nasty. The other tasted it, and declared it good.

Two boys examining a bush, one observed that it had a thorn. The other that it had a rose.

Two children looking through colored glass, one said. "The world is blue." And the other said: "It is bright."

Two boys eating their dinner, one said: "I would rather have something better than this." The other said: "This is better than nothing."

Two men went to see New York. One visited the saloons and thought New York wicked. The other visited the homes and thought New York good.

Two boys looking at some skaters, one said. "See how they fall." The other: "See how they glide."

A servant thinks a man's house is principally kitchen; a guest, that it is principally parlor.

Two boys got each an apple. One was thankful for the apple; the other was dissatisfied because it was not two.

"I am glad that I live," says one man. "I am sorry I must die," says another.

"I am glad," says one, "that it is no worse." "I am sorry," says another, "that it is no better."

One man is thankful for his blessings. Another is morose for his misfortunes.

One man thinks he is entitled to a better world and is dissatisfied because he hasn't got it. Another thinks he is not justly entitled to any, and is satisfied with this.

One man enjoys what he has. Another suffers what he has not.

One man makes up his account from his wants. Another from his assets.

One man complains that there is evil in the world. Another rejoices that there is good in the world.

One says "Our good is mixed with evil." Another says: "Our evil is mixed with good."

Industrial Conclusions.

From the Atlantic Monthly

1. That the savings of to-day are far greater than in the past.

2. That the earnings of the present are greater than in 1860.

3. That the cost of articles that enter into living has not advanced in proportion to our earnings.

4. That the mass of the people are better fed, clothed, housed, and in possession of more of the comforts of life than at any other period.

5. That the change has been brought about by the development of the forces of nature through discovery, invention, the use of machinery, and the harmonious working of capital and labor.

6. That capital and labor, instead of being antagonistic, are naturally helpful, and that any conflict between them is brought about by elements beyond the control of either acting separately.

The Tidy Housewife

The careful, tidy housewife, when she is giving her house its spring cleaning, should bear in mind that the dear inmates of her house are more precious than houses, and that their systems need cleansing by purifying the blood, regulating the stomach and bowels to prevent and cure the diseases arising from spring malaria and miasma, and she should know that there is nothing that will do it so perfectly and surely as Hop Bitters, the purest and best of all medicines. See other column.

IN twenty-eight years New York has shipped 48,000 friendless children to the west and found homes for them. This not only saves New York the building of several orphan asylums, but it prevents a good share of the west from the snobbery of boasting of its genealogy.—Detroit Free Press.

THE value of "grit" on the part of the minority is just now conspicuously exhibited in Congress, for the Democrats cannot even pass a resolution to adjourn the extra session without the consent of the Republicans. All that the latter have to do is to refrain from voting, and Congress must sit until the minority sees fit to dissolve it. The Bourbons might as well go on and do their business properly if they ever expect to go home.—Chicago Journal.

The Imported Stallion

"NIGER!"

Will make the season of 1879 at the farm formerly owned by Thomas C. Sterrett, one mile northeast of Warrensburg, Macon county, Illinois, spring season to commence the 1st of April and close the 15th of July; fall season from the 1st of September to the 20th of October. Terms, $10.00 to insure with foal—payable when the fact is ascertained. Good care will be taken of stock, but no responsibility for accidents or escapes. Mares from a distance will be pastured at reasonable rates on the farm. Mares not proving in foal can be returned free of charge.

DESCRIPTION AND PEDIGREE.

NIGER is a jet black, 9 years old, 16½ hands high, and weighed last August 1800 lbs. Was imported from France by James Fullington & Co., of Union county, Ohio, in the fall of 1874. They also imported Old Louis Napoleon, and other noted French horses. NIGER has proven a sure foal getter the past two seasons, and parties wishing can see a lot of his colts on the farm where he now stands, and also throughout the county, where he is well and favorably known.

JONES & BRENNEMAN.

P. S.—We have fine brood mares and young stallions, three-fourth to seven-eighth breed, on the farm for sale; also a herd of short horns to be disposed of. apr24w6mo

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

WHAT AMERICAN GIRLS ARE TAUGHT.

Philadelphia Record.

The new-fangled twist which school-teachers are imparting to the rising generation in the pronunciation of certain words, in the language of an old citizen who rises to object, is "agin natur and sense, and nothin' like the way they taught fifty years ago."

Having fished his side-board collar from the depths of an old black stock, where it had gradually sunk under the weight of perspiration, this old-fashioned citizen, who had climbed up five flights of steep steps to be interviewed, said:

"My youngest darter said to me the other day: "Pa, is Bostong as large as Philadelphia?" "Boston, my child," said I—B-o-s-t-o-n is not." Then I laughed. "What are you loffing at, pa?" said she. Then I began to rile up. Sez I: "Sarey, who told you to call it Bostong, and who taught you to say loff for laughing?" "My schule moster," says she. Then I heaved out a word that they don't teach children at school, and began to cross-examine her. "Why, sir," and here the old gentleman began to wipe up the oozings from his corrugated brow, "she called Baltimore Balltimore, half as though it was loff, and went over a string of words that would have made an old-time teacher boom around a school house with a rattan in a manner not appreciated in this day by fancy kinks. The members of the board of education can talk till the crack of doom, but they couldn't beat it into my head, or any other fellows who went to school 40 years ago, that Boston is Bostong, or laugh is loff."—Having said this, and having punched a score of imaginary holes in the floor with his cane, the outraged father braced up his collar, and climbed down the stairs again.

Fattening Brides

Throughout the empire of Morocco there are villages where the elder members of the adult population follow professionally the pursuit of fattening young ladies for the matrimonial market of Barbary. The Moors, like the Turks and most other Orientals, give a decided preference to "moonfaced" wives over lean ones, and are more solicitous as to the number of pounds which their brides weigh than about the stock of accomplishments which they possess. A girl is put under the process of fattening when she is about 12 years of age. Her hands are tied behind her, and she is seated on a carpet during so many hours every day, while her "papa" stand over her with a mairague, or big stick; and her mother at times pops into her mouth a ball of couscousson, or stiff-made porridge, kneaded up with grease, and just large enough to be swallowed without the patient choking. If the unfortunate girl declines to be crammed, she is compelled; so that ere long the poor girl resigns herself to the torture, and gulps down the boluses lest she should be beaten.

THE laws mercifully provide that no man shall have more than one wife at a time. In the states the matter is regulated by local statutes, and in the Territories by an act of Congress passed in 1862. It is understood to be the purpose of the Government not to direct prosecutions for polygamous marriages made before that date, but for an offense committed since that time one George Reynolds, of Utah, has been tried, convicted, sentenced, and sent to prison. Great efforts are being made, chiefly through the Mormon Delegate, George Q. Cannon, at Washington, to secure a Presidential pardon, but the indications are that Reynolds will have to withdraw from domestic life for a while and leave his interesting batch of grass-widows to hoe corn on the plains that lie round about the Jordan in the country of Salt Lake.

THAT BARREL.

Detroit Free Press.

Just as the last rays of the setting sun were gilding the church spires and whitewashing the back kitchens of Detroit the other afternoon a man and a barrel were discovered at a stairway on Monroe avenue. He was a small man and it was a big barrel, and pedestrians who saw him looking up the stairs and back at the barrel inferred that it was his intention to elevate it to the third story. But how?

"I'd rig a tackle and pulley in that third story window," said the first man that halted. "That's your easiest way, and there's no danger of accident."

He leaned against the lamp-post to calculate on the length of rope and the lifting power required, and along came a second man who took in the situation at a glance and said:

"Go and get some scantlings fourteen feet long and lay 'em on the stairs. Then two men can roll that barrel up there as slick as grease."

The little man looked around in a helpless sort of way, and a third came blustering up and called out:

"Want to get that barrel upstairs, eh? Well, now, fasten your pulley at the head of the stairs, and ten men down here can snake the barrel up in no time. Where's your tackle?"

By this time the crowd had increased to twenty, and was pretty evenly divided between a dead lift through one of the front windows and a pulley at the top of the stairs, but the man who suggested the skids had a very loud voice and was determined to carry his point. Taking off his coat, he said:

"I know what I'm talking about, and I say that I can skid that barrel up there alone. You just wait a minute."

He crossed the street to an unfinished building, and returned with a couple of 2x4 scantlings and laid them on the stairs, and the crowd now numbered fifty.

"You want this barrel on the third floor, do you?" he asked of the little man.

"Yes—but—but—."

"But what?"

"Why, I was waiting for my wife to get the clothes horse out of the upper hall. She's all ready now, and I'll take it up."

And the little man shouldered the barrel and trotted briskly up stairs between the skids. It was empty!

Keeping Alive the Old War-Feeling

Philadelphia Press (Rep.)

The Democratic platform of Ohio charges the Republican party with "keeping alive the old war-feeling." If the Republicans would quietly admit that the Union was the lost cause, and that the principles for which Union men fought and fell were not vindicated by the results of the War, the Democrats would no doubt be perfectly satisfied. All the Republicans have done or propose to do is to occasionally remind the ex-Confederates and their Northern allies that certain questions of vital importance to the nation were settled by the arbitrament of the sword, and that the Democratic attempts to ignore this is simply a revival of the cause which led to the War.

HOW WATCHES ARE MADE.

It will be apparent to any one, who will examine a SOLID GOLD WATCH, that aside from the necessary thickness for engraving and polishing, a large proportion of the precious metal used, is needed only to stiffen and hold the engraved portions in place, and supply the necessary solidity and strength. The surplus gold is actually needless so far as UTILITY and beauty are concerned. In JAMES BOSS' PATENT GOLD WATCH CASES, this WASTE of precious metal is overcome, and the SAME SOLIDITY AND STRENGTH produced at from one-third to one half of the usual cost of solid cases. This process is of the most simple nature, as follows: a plate of nickle composition metal, specially adapted to the purpose, has two plates of SOLID GOLD soldered one on each side. The three are then passed between polished steel rollers, and the result is a strip of heavily plated composition, from which the cases, backs, centres, bezels, &c., are cut and shaped by suitable dies and formers. The gold in these cases is sufficiently thick to admit of all kinds of chasing, engraving and enameling; the engraved cases have been carried until worn perfectly smooth by time and use without removing the gold. They are for sale by all jewelers, and each case is warranted by SPECIAL CERTIFICATE. If your jeweler does not keep them, send to HAGSTOZ & THORPE, Sixth and Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia, for illustrated catalogue.

J. "CAL." WILSON.

A Kansas Murderer and Escaped Jail-bird in the County Bastile.

From Thursday's Daily.

Constables W. S. Odor, of Wheatland, and Jerome Edwards, of Blue Mound, on yesterday afternoon went to Peter Lebo's farm near Harristown, and arrested J. "Cal." Wilson, a man aged about 27 years, 5 feet 8 inches high, medium build, weight about 140 pounds, heavy light colored moustache, charged with the murder of one Benjamin Ball, in Harvey county, Kansas, some time during the winter of '78 or '79. He was brought to this city last evening and lodged in the county jail to await the pleasure of the sheriff of Sedgwick county, Kan., where he effected his escape by breaking jail in January last.

Last February the authorities at Wichita, Kansas, wrote a letter to Jacob I. Bear, the deputy clerk of this county, making inquiries as to the whereabouts of Wilson, and receiving no satisfactory information, they wrote again the other day. Mr. Bear instituted more searching inquiries, and learned that the party wanted was in this county, and had been for some time working for Peter Lebo, in Harristown township. The proper papers were placed in the hands of the constables named and the arrest followed as above stated.

Our reporter interviewed Wilson at the county jail this forenoon, but found him to be the most uncommunicative chap he ever tackled. He stood behind the bars, with his hands in his pockets, and, sensibly enough, refused to answer leading questions. He said he had worked for many farmers near Harristown for several years previous to 18 months ago, when he went to Kansas. He insisted that the farmers for whom he had worked would give him a good character. When asked if he got into trouble while in Kansas, he said he guessed he wouldn't say anything about that, as he didn't want it to get into the papers. The other day Constable Weitzel levied on some property near Harristown, and made Wilson his custodian. At that time the constable relates, Wilson said in the presence of two or three farmers, that he had killed a man in Kansas, but that he had got off clear.

The governor of Kansas offered a reward of $300 for the arrest and conviction of Wilson, and it is said that Sedgewick county will also pay $200.

In his last letter to Mr. Bear, W. H. Harris, the Wichita officer, referring to the rewards offered, made the proposition that the money would be divided if the arrest was effected.

From Thursday's Daily

Failed to Sustain the Charge.

The arrest of Mrs. Rosa Getts, several days ago, on a state warrant sworn out by Thomas P. Russell, the walkist, charging her with shooting her husband, near Blue Mound, about six months ago, was duly announced in these columns. On yesterday afternoon the case was tried in Justice Peake's court, on a change of venue from Justice Curtis. Thos. Lee, Esq., appeared for the woman, and the complaining witness, Russell, for the prosecution. It appeared from the evidence adduced that a gun did go off, and that the divorced husband, Wm. Getts, caught the bullet in one of his limbs, producing a slight wound, but who pulled the trigger that sent the ball whizzing through the air, did not appear to the satisfaction of his honor, and the woman was discharged from custody. Russell says he and Lee had a lively time of it, and that he bothered the Hibernian attorney considerably by his "superior" legal knowledge.

A Fisherman's Opinion.

Capt. Bingham, contrary to the opinion of most experts in Izak Walton's gentle art, positively asserts that the "dog fish" of our western waters is really one of the most delicious denizens of the streams.— The fact that it rapidly decomposes when taken from its native element, only goes to proves this; "for," says the captain, "is not the mountain trout a most excellent pan-fish, and yet is it not quite difficult to preserve its flesh long enough to get it to the kitchen, so rapidly does it decay when yanked from the cool waters?"

The captain says he prefers the dog fish fried—especially when it is done by the ladies. Three ladies to one dog fish is about the thing, and renders the meal perfect, especially if those at the table preserve a funeral silence while he greedily devours the delicious tidbits so generously heaped upon his plate by the innocent and artless lady cooks.

A Base Fabrication.

[illegible] L. Scholl, the sore headed editor of the Champaign Union, prints the following "give away" on Decatur girls in his unspeakable sheet of the 18th

Over in Decatur, when a young fellow takes a girl a buggy riding, she comes out in the newspaper the next day with a card of thanks. It is a good scheme. The boys like to see their names in print, and hence ——

It is hardly necessary to state that the above is wholly false.

Going to Mattoon.

The 4th will be celebrated at Mattoon on a grand scale. Among the attractions is a big prize for excellence in military tactics according to Upton. Several of the best known military companies in the state will be present and compete for the prize. At the meeting of the Decatur Guards, on last evening, that company accepted the invitation of the committee, and the company will go over commanded by Lieut. Ewood. The Grenadiers, commanded by Captain Durfee, decided to go as a company several days ago. The Drum Corps will accompany the military. The citizens of Mattoon have subscribed a sufficient sum to pay for the transportation of the visiting military, and also for their entertainment while there.

Priest's Hotel.

We take pleasure in informing the citizens of Decatur and the traveling public generally that the popular Priest's Hotel has been recently internally improved, and is now as neat and clean as a new pin. Our reporter took a stroll through the halls and rooms on yesterday afternoon, and soon discovered that the noted painters, M. A. Myer & Son, had been there, and had calcimined and whitened the walls and ceilings very handsomely. Next week the hotel will be repainted on the outside. Patrons of this hotel are always well fed, and the accommodations are first-class.

CLOCK WORK is not more regular than the liver, the stomach and the bowels when they are put in order with DR. MOTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS, a supremely effective and safe alterative, cathartic and blood depurent which promotes thorough bilious secretion, a regular habit of body, sound digestion and nervous tranquility. It is the best possible substitute for that terrible drug, mercury. For sale by S. M. Irwin, the Live Druggist. d&w1w

HENRY MILLER RECAPTURED.

His Arrest by the Marshal of Terre Haute the Result of Sheriff Forstmyer's Shrewdness.

On the 13th of May last Henry Miller was on trial in the circuit court under an indictment charging him with burglarizing the Wabash railway cars near the Sangamon river in 1877. It will be remembered that soon after dinner on the 13th, while a witness was giving in very damaging testimony, Henry coolly walked out of the court room and lit out for parts unknown. His sudden disappearance took everybody by surprise, and it was generally considered a pretty slick trick for an old man.

Sheriff Forstmyer and a lot of bailiffs immediately started in pursuit of the fugitive, and telegrams were sent to all the stations in the vicinity with orders to arrest Miller on sight. All efforts to learn of his whereabouts proved fruitless, and many had given him up for good, supposing that he had lit out for Canada or gone to join the Zulus over the ocean.

Not so with our sheriff. He laid low and instituted systematic and tireless inquiries, which finally led him to believe that Miller was at Terre Haute, Indiana. Accordingly on June 17th he wrote the city marshal of Terre Haute a letter imparting all information in his possession, and enclosing a bench warrant for the fugitive's arrest. The marshal followed the directions, and on yesterday he found Henry Miller in Terre Haute, digging a well, and going under the name of Henry Jones. At first he refused to respond to the name of Miller; but when he found that the marshal was well posted, he wilted, and admitted that he was the man named in the warrant. There was no trouble about getting him to come along without going to the trouble of procuring a requisition, and he arrived here this noon over the Midland in charge of the City Marshal, J. H. Kidd. Miller is now in the county jail.

Miller had been in Terre Haute about four weeks, and was living quietly with a woman named Elizabeth Little, who came over with the party to-day, and is now in the city.

Special pains will be taken that Henry does not slip away again before his case is finally disposed of in court. The evidence against him is very damaging

Mrs. M. A. Kaufman's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary A. Kaufman took place from the First M. E. Church on yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The services were held in the lecture room. The attendance of friends and acquaintances was quite large. An impressive sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Goodwin. Appropriate music was furnished by a select choir, composed of the following persons: Messrs. Milton Johnson and H. B. Montgomery and Mrs. W. C. Armstrong and Miss Sallie Roe, with Miss Lou Knieper as organist. At the conclusion of the services the casket containing the remains was borne to the waiting hearse by the pall-bearers, Judge S. F. Greer, Michael Elson, J. R. Gorin, W. E. Hubbard, E. S. Roe and W. R. Shull, and followed to Greenwood Cemetery by a large funeral cortege.

The deceased was born in Pennsylvania in 1817, where she was united in marriage to Mr. Joseph Kaufman, who died in this city about 10 years ago. Thirty-seven years ago she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church at Mt. Gilead, in this county, and was always an earnest, christian woman. She leaves one son, Rev. M. S. Kaufman, and three daughters.

New Brick Meat Market.

John Zellar, the enterprising and prosperous butcher on North Water street, has sold his old frame shop to a party on West Cerro Gordo street, who will use it as a dwelling house. The old frame has been removed, and to-day workmen are engaged in preparing the old site for the speedy erection of a large two-story brick building, 20x42 feet, which, when completed, will be used by Mr. Zellar as a modern meat market. Mills & Harry have the contract for the wood work, and M. Troutman will lay the brick. For the present Mr. Zellar will use the vacant storeroom north of Will Ferguson's hardware store for a meat market where his many patrons will be supplied.

Ex-Supervisor Barnett at Liberty.

In the supreme court at Mt. Vernon, Ill., on Tuesday, Nathan M. Barnett, the ex-supervisor of Barnett township, De Witt county, who has been passing his time away in the Sangamon county jail since last February, because he persisted in refusing to sign railroad bonds, was ordered released from custody. Now the Midland will probably go for the newly-elected supervisor, and make him dance to the music

New Honey.

I have just taken out the finest lot of white clover honey that I ever saw. Extracted is worth 10c per pound. Bring on your buckets, jugs, jars, pails, or anything else, and have them filled. Will give you any amount that you want, from one pound to 500. Extra fine comb honey 15 per pound. E. A. GASTMAN.

ANOTHER OLD CITIZEN GONE.

From Saturday's Daily.

Again are we called upon to announce the death of another of Decatur's oldest citizens, a man who was well known by a majority of our people. This time it is Solomon P. Purdy, who died at his late residence at No. 37 Mason street, at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. His death was not entirely unexpected, as he had been confined to his room and bed for a long while with a disease which baffled the skill of the most skillful and experienced physicians. He was something over sixty years of age, and leaves a wife and several children to mourn his loss.

The funeral will take place from No. 37 Mason street on to-morrow (Sunday), at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. Friends of the family are invited to attend without further notice.

Interesting to Druggists.

Albert Emerson, the State's Attorney of Piatt county, called at the REPUBLICAN office last evening, having just returned from Springfield, where he had been to procure the decision of the Supreme Court of the State in two cases taken up on appeal from Piatt county. Doctor S. Noecker, a druggist of Monticello, had been indicted for dealing unlawfully in the sale of intoxicating liquors. He was tried and found guilty in two cases. The druggist took an appeal on both cases to the Supreme Court, who affirmed the verdict of the jury below. The seven supreme judges were united in the opinion that druggists have no more right to sell intoxicating liquors,—even on the prescription of a physician,—without a license from a city council or a town board, than a saloon-keeper. This decision will be of special interest to the druggists of the state, as it has been their custom for many years to furnish liquor to anybody who comes to them with a prescription from any regular physician. Unless they take out a license the Supreme Court holds that they are just as liable to be indicted as the saloon-keeper who fails to comply with the law.

Priest's Policemen.

David Berlin won his case in the circuit court to-day, and got judgment for the full amount of his claim against the city, $34. Berlin, J. B. Winebrenner, and Toliver Vest, it will be remembered, were appointed regular policemen in the month of April, 1878, by Frank Priest, during his administration as mayor of the city, and the council refused to issue warrants in payment for services rendered. Winebrenner has a claim amounting to nearly $100, and Vest's is something over $60. We understand that both these gentlemen have sued the city for the amounts named, and Berlin's success has inspired them with renewed hope.

Rev. A. Wimsett, who used to be the pastor of the U. B. church, in this city, when the brick edifice stood on North Main street, after an absence of a number of years, has moved back to Decatur and taken up his residence at the corner of North Main and Packard streets. Rev. W. gave us a brief call last evening. He is in his usual robust health.

Mrs. M. B. R. Shay, of Bloomington, whose husband is also a member of the law class, graduated from the Wesleyan Law Class yesterday. The Pantagraph says Mrs. Shay is not only a bright student in the legal profession, but is a housekeeper and the mother of four children, the youngest of whom is yet in its swaddling clothes. She won the $100 prize at the competitive examination.

The Bootblacks' Lament.

There hasn't been a circus in Decatur since Barnum pitched his tents here on the 6th day of August, 1878, and the bootblacks are going about the streets day after day mournfully singing songs, of which the following is a sample:

O, where is the festive circus,
Frankie Haines! Frankie Haines!
And the clowns that do so please us,
Frankie Haines! Frankie Haines!
O, bring us on a show,
Or crazy we will go;
We are dying for a circus
Frankie Haines! Frankie Haines!
O, get us just one circus,
Frankie Haines!

A License Town.

At a meeting of the Macon city council last Tuesday night, Matthew Ruby, formerly a Decatur saloon keeper, was granted a license to sell intoxicating liquors. The rate is $250 per annum.— We are informed by a citizen of Macon that Dr. Shaw will take out a license, and that a man is coming from Moaweqaa who will go into the saloon business there some time soon.

PEOPLE residing in malarial districts, or removing to such localities, can place reliance in the efficacy of Dr. F. Wilhoft's Anti-Periodic or Fever and Ague Tonic, to prevent or rather counteract all malarial diseases. It never fails to cure Chills and Fever, Dumb Chills and Enlarged Spleen, and is guaranteed to contain no dangerous drug. The composition of this medicine is given with each bottle, and can be had from all druggists.

ANOTHER ONE.

Hayes' Veto of the Judicial Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 23.—The following is the text of the president's message vetoing the judicial expenses bill:

To the House of Representatives:

After a careful examination of the bill entitled "An act making appropriations for certain judicial expenses I return it herewith to the house of representatives, in which it originated, with the following objections to its approval:

The general purpose of the bill is to provide for certain judicial expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, for which the sum of $2,690,000 is appropriated. These appropriations are required to keep in operation the general functions of the judicial department of the Government, and if this part of the bill stood alone there would be no objection to its approval. It contains, however, other provisions to which I desire respectfully to ask your attention.

At the present session of congress a majority of both houses, favoring a repeal of the congressional election laws, embraced in title twenty-six of the Revised statutes, passed a measure for that purpose as part of a bill entitled, "An act making appropriations for the legislative, executive and judicial expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, and for other purposes." Unable to concur with congress in that measure, on the 21st of May last, I returned the bill to the house of representatives, in which it originated, without my approval, for that further consideration for which the constitution provides.

On reconsideration the bill was approved by less than two-thirds of the house, failed to become a law. The election laws therefore remain valid enactments, and the supreme law of the land, binding not only upon all private citizens, but also alike and equally binding upon all who are charged with the duties and responsibilities of the legislative, executive and judicial departments of the Government.

It is not sought by the bill before me to repeal the election laws. Its object is to defeat their enforcement. The last clause of the first section is as follows:

"And no part of the money hereby appropriated is appropriated to pay any salaries, compensation, fees, or expenses, under or in virtue of title 26 of the Revised statutes or any provision of said title."

Title 26 of the Revised Statutes, referred to in the foregoing clause, relates to the elective franchise, and contains the laws now in force regulating congressional elections.

The second section of the bill reaches much further. It is as follows:

SECTION 2. That the sums appropriated in this act for the persons and public service embraced in its provisions are in full for such persons and public service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, no department or officer of the Government shall, during said fiscal year, make any contract, or incur any liability for the future payment of money under any of the provisions of title 26 of the Revised Statutes, authorizing the appointment of general or special Deputy Marshals for service in connection with an election or on election day until an appropriation sufficient to meet such contract or pay such liability shall have first been made by law.

This section of the bill is intended to make an extensive and essential change in the existing laws. The following are the provisions of the statutes on the same subject which are now in force

SECTION 2,679. No department of the Government shall expend, in any one fiscal year, any sum in excess of the appropriations made by congress for that fiscal year, or involve the Government in any contract for the future payment of money in excess of appropriations.

SEC. 2,732. No contract or purchase on behalf of the United States shall be made unless the same is authorized by law, or is under an appropriation adequate to its fulfillment except in the War and Navy Departments for clothing, subsistence, forage, fuel, quarters or transportation, which, however, shall not exceed the necessaries of the current year.

The object of these sections of the Revised Statutes is plain. It is, first, to prevent any money from being expended unless an appropriation has been made therefor, and, second, to prevent the Government from being bound by a contract not previously authorized by law except for certain necessary purposes in the war and navy departments.

Under the existing laws, the failure of congress to make the appropriations required for the execution of the provisions of the election laws would not prevent their enforcement. The right and duty to appoint General and Special Deputy Marshals which they provide for, would still remain, and the executive department of the Government would also be empowered to incur the requisite liability for compensation.—But the second section of this bill contains a prohibition not found in any previous legislation. Its design is to render the election laws inoperative and a dead letter during the next fiscal year. It is sought to accomplish this by omitting to appropriate the money for their enforcement, and by expressly prohibiting any department or officer of the Government from incurring any liability under any of the provisions of title 26 of the Revised Statutes authorizing the appointment or payment of general or special deputy marshals for service on election days, until an appropriation sufficient to pay such liability shall have first been made.

The President is called upon to give his affirmative approval to a positive enactment which, in effect, would deprive him of the ordinary and necessary means of executing the laws, still left on the statute book and embraced within his constitutional duty to see that laws are executed. If he approves this bill, and thus gives to such positive enactments the authority of law, he participates in a curtailment of his means of seeing that the law is faithfully executed, while the obligation of law and of his constitutional duty remains unimpaired.

The appointment of special deputy marshals is not made by the statute a spontaneous act of authority on the part of any executive or judicial officer of the Government, but is accorded as the popular right of citizens to call into operation this agency for securing the freedom of elections in any city or town having 20,000 inhabitants or upward.

Section 2,021 of the Revised Statutes puts it in the power of any two citizens of such city or town to require of the Marshal of the district the appointment of these special deputy marshals. Thereupon the duty of the marshal becomes imperative and its non-performance will expose him to a judicial mandate or punishment, or to removal from office by the President, as the circumstances of his conduct might require.

The bill now before me neither revokes this popular right of citizens nor relieves the marshals of the duty imposed by law, nor the President, of his duty to see that this law is faithfully executed.

I forbear to enter again upon any general discussion of the wisdom and necessity of the election laws, or the dangerous and unconstitutional principle of this bill and the power vested in Congress to originate appropriations involves the right to compel the executive to approve any legislation which Congress may see fit to attach to such bills under the penalty of refusing the means needed to carry out essential functions of the Government.

My views on these subjects have been sufficiently presented in special messages sent by me to the House of Representatives during its present session.

What was said in those messages I regard as conclusive to my duty in respect to the bill before me. The argument urged in these communications against a repeal of the election laws and against the right of Congress to deprive the executive of that separate and independent discretion and judgment which the constitution confers and requires are equally cogent in opposition to this bill. This measure leaves the powers and duties of the Supervisors of elections untouched. The compensation of those officers is provided for under the permanent law, and no liability for which an appropriation is now required would, therefore, be incurred by their appointment, but the power of the national Government to protect them in the discharge of their duty at the polls would be taken away.

States may employ both the civil and military power at elections; but by this bill even the civil authority to protect Congressional elections is denied to us. The object is to prevent any adequate control by the United States over national elections by forbidding the payment of deputy marshals, the officers who are clothed with authority to enforce the election laws. The fact that these laws are deemed objectionable by a majority of both houses of Congress is urged as a sufficient warrant for this legislation. There are two ways always to overturn legislative enactments. One is their repeal: the other is the decision of a competent tribunal against their validity. The effect of this bill is to deprive the executive department of the Government of the means to execute the laws which are not repealed, which have not been declared invalid, and which it is, therefore, the duty of the executive and of every other department of the Government to obey and to enforce.

I have in my former messages on this subject expressed a willingness to concur in suitable amendments for the improvement of the election laws, but I cannot consent to their absolute and entire repeal, and I cannot approve legislation which seeks to prevent their enforcement. (Signed)

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES,
EXECUTIVE MANSION, June 23, '79.

FALL RIVER, June 24.—At a meeting of spinners to-night it was voted to inaugurate a strike to-morrow in every mill in the city except the Metacomet and Anawan. In these mills notice not being given as early as in the others, the spinners will work there a day or two longer, until the ten days notice expires. No well informed person believes that the manufacturers will yield in any way to the spinners, and the prospect is that on Thursday morning a sharp contest will begin.

CINCINNATI, June 23.—A Frankfort, Ky., dispatch says: Saturday night, at Sand Riffle, twelve miles distant, a party of unknown men attacked the house of Samuel Faulkner, severely wounding Faulkner as he ran from the house. They then set fire to the dwelling, which was consumed with his inmates. Harry Rassill, aged 17, who was also shot and two children of Faulkner, aged 11 and 3 years. No cause is given for this brutal affair

CHICAGO, June 22.—One of the armed companies, which under the recent act of the legislature, must shortly cease to exist, became involved in a difficulty with some unarmed people this afternoon, which resulted in the death of the latter. The Bohemian sharpshooters association, composed of some twenty individuals, had a picnic to-day at Silver Leaf Grove, corner of Ogden avenue. During the dance, one of the sharpshooters engaged in a quarrel with Volney Clark, a visitor, and after using him up pretty badly, had him ejected from the grounds. He stated his grievance to the crowd outside the gate, and gaining some sympathy, there was inaugurated an indiscriminate throwing of sticks and stones into the enclosure where the picnic was being held. The lieutenant of the company, Frank Ladweic, ordered the long roll sounded and the bayonets fixed. A charge was immediately made toward the gate, and the crowd were payoneted and sabered until they fell back. The company reformed outside the gate in a single line facing the street, and loading their guns, fired a volley into the crowd. They immediately reloaded and again fired, each sharpshooter picking his man. It is stated that three or four volleys were fired in all. The weapons used were muzzle-loading Springfield muskets, the cartridges being composed of nine buckshot each. About a dozen were wounded and three are said to have since died. As soon as the affair became known, two squads of police repaired to the scene and arrested the whole company: they formed in marching order, under the American flag, and proceeded to the West Madison street jail, where they are now incarcerated, charged with murder and guarded by a heavy detachment of police.

It is rumored an attempt will be made by the Lehr and Wehr Verin to rescue the prisoners to-night.

LATER.

The Lehr and Wehr Verin, which had been holding a picnic to-day, outside of the city, made no effort on the return to release the prisoners. It seems that the picnic was given by a Bohemian Sunday school, and numerous gangs of drunken roughs had all along given considerable trouble, till finally those in charge of affairs sent for the Sharpshooters for protection. They arrived about 3 o'clock, and shortly after that time the trouble began, as above related. The Lieutenant to-night denies that he gave the order to fire, but says that after he had cleared the ground by the bayonet, there was such a rain of stones and bricks that his men began a desultory fire without order. The members of the company all refused to talk. Seventeen are retained, the others having been released. The arrival of the police to conduct them to the station probably saved them from personal violence, which was threatened by the surrounding excited mob of about 2,000. The following is believed to be a complete list of the casualties:

Valentine E. Clark, severely wounded by blows on the head.

D. H. Wilkie, three inch bayonet wound in left temple.

John Donahoe, left side jaw-bone shattered and shot through the body below the left nipple—said to have died.

Henry Williams, body and neck.

Little boy, name unknown.

Daniel McCarthy, cut with bayonet.

IN OLDEN TIMES!

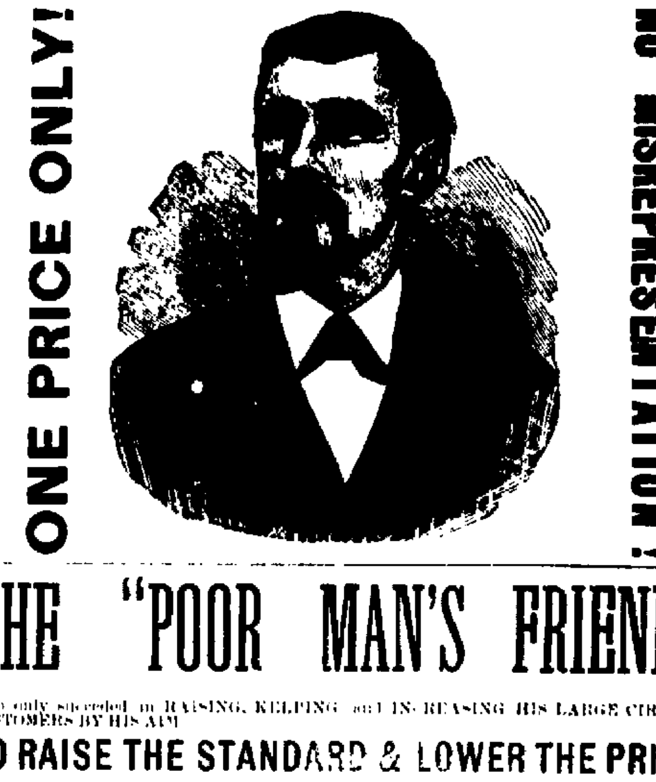

It is told that the craze for being sinful in overcharging on all classes of clothing, if shoddy, shop-worn, or all wool, raged so fearfully among greedy, envious dealers in clothing, who imagined to have a mortgage on the clothing buyers in their respective vicinities, that it took

ALL accounts agree that there has been an unusual demand for cheaply made or shoddy boots or shoes. It is a very short-sighted policy to buy or sell such stuff. In using these goods you pay out twice as much money in a year for your boots and shoes, and you never have a pair that fits, because manufacturers of the cheap grades give no attention to the fit of their work. We trust that people who buy shoddy work will turn over a new leaf in this matter and practice true economy, by making quality the first consideration of their purchase of boots and shoes. At the popular Boot and Shoe House of L. L. Ferriss you can get prime, solid and seasonable Boots and Shoes for as little money as you can buy cheaper grades elsewhere. His grades are made from the choicest materials. Our improved styles of Lasts, graded in sizes and widths to fit the human foot properly—and no shoddy nor deception there. Mr. Ferriss does a one-price cash business, and can afford to sell very low. You can find the largest assortment in the city of strictly good goods at Ferriss' New Shoe Store, 11 East Main street, being just across the street from his old store and one door east of Millikin's Bank
